

“As the Director of Northside Hospital Neurodiagnostics, I have a first-hand look at the patient-centered practice of James Kiely. Witnessing the dedication he exhibits on a daily basis drove me to name him the Medical Director of my department. As a renowned expert on epilepsy, Dr. Kiely is repeatedly called on to share his knowledge base as a resource to other physicians. Also, I am not only impressed with how often he broadens the expertise of the technologists, but also with his ability to raise the bar of standards to unparalleled levels.”
